KI-O-RAHI

THE GAME

Two teams play against each other on a circular field consisting of 3 highly visible concentric circles, each a minimum 100mm wide.

- Each circle constitutes a zone.
- The outer zone is 'Te Ao'. It is 12 metres wide.
- The middle zone is 'Te Roto'. It is 6 metres wide.
- The central zone is 'Te Motu'
- This zone includes the 'Tupu' and 'Pawero'.
- The opposing teams are named "Kioma" & "Taniwha"

The aim of the Kioma team is to score tries "tupu manawa" while the opposing Taniwha team attempts to score hits "tupu wairua" on the large centre target called a "tupu". The team which scores the most points OR the team which scores ten times in a row wins the game.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD BALL?

WHAT IS PLY?

The "Ply" is made from a blend of Cotton & Polyester. Higher ply balls (3/4) contain higher grade polycotton, allowing a lighter weight ball with better shape retention.

- 4 Ply Balls = High quality match ball.
- 3 Ply Balls = Match/ High quality training.
- 2 Ply Balls = Practice & Lower club match.

BLADDER

The bladder gives the ball it's shape, bounce inflation life. The common bladders are:

- Latex: Provides great bounce.
- Rubber: Lower Inflation life, Provides great bounce and shape retention.
- Hi-Tech: Higher grade latex with best bounce, air retention.
- Butyl: Provides great air retention.

STITCHING

There are two types of stitching 'Machine' & 'Hand'.

- Hand = Excellent for durability and performance due to a thicker stitch with a more "Fine tuned" manufacturing process.
- Machine = Excellent for true shape retention but with a lower shelf life due to thinner stitching used.

SYNTHETIC OUTER

The amount of "PLY's" determine the thickness of the outer rubber. ie; Higher ply > Thicker rubber = A more hardwearing a ball.
